About half past nine o'clock last Monday night, Walter Pardins, committed suicide, in the rear of the house 135 Walker street, by cutting the femoral artery near to the right groin, with a raror, from which wound he bled to sight groin, with a raror, from which wound he bled to sight groin with a raror, from which wound he bled to sight groin in the neighborhood, he was lifeless. Notice was given to the Sixth ward police, and Assistant Captain Fierty, with officer McParlin, proceeded to the spot, and removed the body to the station house. Upon search being made in his pockets, Assistant Captain Garrett found a diploma of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, dated June 24, 1839, authorizing the deceased to practise surgery. Judging from his dress and general appearance, it would seem as if he had endured much poverty lately, and this supposition is confirmed by the contents of the following paper, written with a lead pencil, which was found in another pocket: "If I should die while at Ward's Island, which, from my present feeling, I don't think unlikely, please to send a letter to my wife, Mrs. Jardine, Buffalo." Dated, Jan. 24, 32. It was considered that the unfortunate man had appliest, or invended to do so, for relief at the public expense, and that the wretched state of his mind induced him to commit the dreadful deed.

Coroner Gamble held an investigation into the circumstances connected with the sad end of Mr. Jardine, at the Sixth Ward station house, yesterday morning. The following gentlemen were sworn upon the jury.

Baniel O'Neil, Jacob B. Smith.
Charles Smith, Napoleon Wooldridge,
D. Selby, P. McLaughtim.
The annexed testimony was taken:—
Henry Rowland being duly sworn, deposed—I reside at
No. 141 Walker street; I am acquainted with the deceased, Walter Jardine, now lying dead at this place; I came from England with him in the ship London, about three years ago last September; his wife and child came with him; they stopped in New York; after that they went to Toronto, in Canada, and after that they went to Buffalo, in this State; his wife remained in Bufalo and he same on to New York; since his return to this city he enjoyed very good health and spirits until the last three or four days; he then complained of a pain in his head; I saw him last evening at the store on the corner of Mulberry and Walker streets, and he then appeared perfectly rational; this was about fifteen minutes previous to his death; I do not know of any cause why he should have committed suicide.

Lawrence Ager, being duly sworn, deposed—I reside a

Lawrence Ager, being duly sworn, deposed—I reside a No. 95 Mulberry street; I was going up into the yar. I which has an entrance on Walker street, to give my horse a pail of water; the deceased was lying upon his back, dead: I gave an alarm, and assistance came with a light; I sound his right hand upon his breast, with the razor, now upon the table, in it; officer McParlin as sized me to take him to the statiop house.

Bernard McParlin sworn—I am a policeman of the Sixth district; I was on duty between eight and nine o clock last evening, in Walker street; information came to me that a man was lying dead in the rear of No. 135: I removed the body to the station house; I found the razor—now here—lying upon his beast.

David Uhl sworn—I made an examination of the body of the deceased, and I found a wound near to the right groin, completely severing the femoral artery from the appearance of the wound, I should judge that it was done with the razor now shown to me; the wound was sufficient to cause death. After a short consultation, the jury returned the following—.

We find that the deceased, Walter Jardine, came to his death by spicide, by cutting the femoral artery with a razor.

The deceased was about thirty-six years of age, and a

We find that the deceased, Walter Jardine, came to his leath by spiciele, by cutting the femoral artery with a razor.

The deceased was about thirty-six years of age, and a native of England. His professional qualifications and fine personal appearance—it well dressed—seemed calculated to advance him to a high position in society, and render his death, under the circumstances detailed above, peculiarly distressing. His diploma bears the signatures of Sir Astley Cooper. Sir Benjamin Brodie, Samuel Cooper, G. J. Guthrie, and other eminent surgeons. His assiduity in his profession, his perseverance, and moral worth, are attested to by the celebrated Liston. The Reverends J. A. Allen and I. Boasheld, of Wolfe Island, Canada West, also bore strong testimony to his character; but grim poverty and disappointment, acting upon a system unfortunately of a high nervous organization, too sensitive, overclouded his vigorous intellect, and in an unhappy moment the hand which might have been usefully employed in saving life destroyed his own. In addition to the paper referred to above as being found upon his person, was also the following, written a short time before his death—"JARUARY 24, 1832.

"HI do get better I will hire out on a farm for board and clothes."

also the following, written a short time before his death.—
"JANUARY 24, 1852.
"If I do get better I will hire out on a farm for board and clothes.

"In a small copy of Meade's Manual of Prescriptions, the following sentences were traced upon a blank leaf:—
"Contemplating from an eminence far removed from the cares and passions, the trials, temptations, triumphs and disappointments of the men of this world, but in the enjoyments and comforts of life, and in the means of satisfying all our reasonable wants, the condition of man approaches much nearer to equality than is generally supposed. We rarely consider how little is needed when there are no artificial wants to disquiet us, or how much is required in circles where conventional exactions are the rules of expenditure. Ignorance on the part of one portion of the community of the objects, desires, and wants of the other portion of it, lay the foundation of all the jealousies which exist between those whose condition is unequal. Wonderful and inscrutable are the ways of Providence! Who can fathom thy mysteries? Dated, 13 klm street."

The Weather.—We had a keen frost yesterday morning with a cold air and a clear unclouded sky. As non-advanced the day became more warm, but the temperature combined warfalle up to a late hour of the night. About five o'clock in the evening there was a slight shower of snow, which soon cleared away. The weather was damp from this hour up to eight o'clock, when the thermometer suddenly fell and the snow came on again with an appearance of continuing. The thermometer at the Heradon Hulkling, ranged at 8 o'clock, A. M., 37 degrees; at noon, 40½ degrees; at 3 P. M., 39 degrees, and at 5 P. M., 38 degrees. At ten o'clock—night—the thermometer stood at 32½ degrees; the wind raw and northerly, sky cloudy, with a little snow falling at intervals.

The Old Brawery—The New Bulling.—The laying of the corner stone of the new building upon the Five Points, alluded to in yesterlay's Herald, will take place at two o'clock in the afternoon of to-morrow. The following elergymen will be present on the occasion, and take parting the exercises.—The Right Rev. Bishop Janes, Rev. Dr. Dewitt, Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Dr. Kennaday. A temporary building has been erected in the small park fronting the new building, for the accommodation of visiters. The children attending the school in connection with the society will all be present, and will sing at intervals during the ceremony.

FUNERAL OF A VERBAN.—The late Joseph Clarke, a member of the Veteran Corps of the war of 1812, was interred yesterday, with due military honors, by his surviving companions, commanded by Colonel N. Haight.

FATAL ACCIDENT BY MACHINEAY.—A boy, named Edward McLaughlin, aged about sixteen years, was killed at nine o'clock yesterday morning, in the tobacco manufactory of Thomas Hoyt & Co., situate at the corner of Dover and Front streets. It appears that the deceased was in the employ of the company for about four months, and his business was to feed the rollers upon the loft. He went to work as usual, and, in a short time after, the sleeve of his overshirt caught in the belt of a wheel, when the rotation of the shaft drew him forcibly from the ground, pressing his head against an upper beam and killing him instantly. All boys are strictly cautioned against putting on or throwing off the belts of the machinery. Coroner O'Donnell held an inquest upon the body in a short time afterwards, when the following testimony was taken:—

Thomas Hoyt—one of the pariners in the firm—testified to the above facts. The revolution of the shaft where the deceased was caught is, I think, two hundred and fifty a minute; it was the business of the deceased to feed the rollers; a small belt carries the feeding apron; it was while adjusting this belt that the deceased, as we suppose, became entangled in the machinery, and came to his death.

Peter Edmonston, foreman—Testified to his being in the next room about nine o'clock in the morning; the machinery was not in motion; I was astonished why it stopped, and on stepping out I saw the deceased hanging by the sleeve of his overshirt, which was wound round the shaft; he was taken down, and no sign of life was then remaining; the boys were specially cautioned not to interfere with the belts.

David H. Hubbard and Maria Gafford corroborated this witness.

David H. Hubbard and Maria Gastord corroborated this witness.

Doctor George L. Murphy—I made an examination of the body, and found the upper dorsal and lower cervical vertebra completely dislocated; this dislocation was the eause of his death.

The jury found the following verdict—'Death from having been entangled accidentally in the machinery of the manufactory of Thomas Hoyt & Company, causing a dislocation of the cervical vertebra; and we further find that no blame can be attached to any person in the establishment of the said Hoyt & Company.'

Deceased came to this country, from ireland, upon the 27th of last August, and lived since in the family of a relative named James McGinnis, at No. 16 Dover street.

Another Stainisto Cast.—About nine o'clock on Monday sight a man, named John Fennell, was brought to the station house of the Twentieth ward, suffering from the effect of two deep wounds, indicted with some sharp weapon, one under each of his eyes. One penetrated nearly to the ball of the left eye. A surgeon was called in, by whom the wounds were dressed, and who gave his opinion to the effect, that although they are not now very dangerous, the man bad a narrow escape from loss of sight. Upon complaint of Fennell, a man named John Martin, was arrested as his assallant, and sent to the Police Court. It is said that Fennell did not give the slightest provocation to Martin for this most dangerous attack.

Highway Robbery Committed by a Woman.—Violence in the public streets, and robberies committed, appear to be on the increase. Not only are these depredations perpetrated by men, but women are now taking a hand in the crime. On Monday evening, between six and seven o'clock, a woman by the name of Hester White, accompanied by Louisa De Barr, accosted a young man named Philip Lewis, a resident of Genesseo, Genessee county, N. Y., in Anthony street, near West Broadway, and before he was aware of any intention of assault, the woman named White struck him a violent blow on the side of the head with a large hardshell clam. The force of the blow caused him to fall insemble on the sidewalk, and before he recovered himself, his pocket was riled, and his wallet stolen, containing $29. The women were making their escape, when the complainant recovered his intellect, gave an alarm, and officer Burnham, of the fifth ward police came to his aid, took the two women into custody, and conveyed them to the station house. On searching their persens, the officer failed to find the money or the clamshell with which the blow had been inflicted, but on examining the street where the assault was committed, the clamshell exas found, which proved to be a very large one, capable of giving a blow equal to that of a hammer. The complainant swore positively to the identity of the woman White, and she's accordingly committed to prison for trial, by Justice Osborn, on the charge of robbery in the first degree. The woman De Barr was discharged from custody. On the examination of the accused, she stated that she was twenty years of age, born in Liverpool, England, and resided at No. 22 West Broadway. In reference to the charge prefer, ed against her, the said, "I am not gailty I nover say or had his money. He aboved me brie the street, and I aboved him; but he did not fall," and the officers of justice as most fully corroborating the facts sworn to on the trial, with the exceptions of some slight deviations from the facts, evidently done with a view of relieving Johnson as one of the principals, and procuring for him. If possible, a commutation of sentence from Governor Seymour.

The prisoners, yesterday, were visited by their relatives and some few friends. Their conduct and demeanor remains about the same as hereofore. They expressed a very strong desire to be respited for two weeks, in order, as they allege, to be more able to prepare themselves for the awful day that awaits them. Daguerrectype likenesses were taken of the three convicts yesterday, at the request of their relations. Last evening they appeared to be anxious to know if any communication had been received from the Governor, in their behalf. Mr. Blunt, the District Attorney, visited them late in the afternoon. They expressed themselves pleased to see him. The Rev. Mr. Camp and the Rev. Mr. Spear visit them daily, as their spiritual advisers. Up to a late hour last evening, we understood that Sheriff Orser had not received any mossage from the Governor respecting the fate of the convicts, and it is generally conceded that the Governor will not interfere with the due administration of the law.

The editor of the Patriot, in a review of "Foster's Double Entry Ruediated," says:—"The rapid strides of commerce render it absolutely necessary that the method of bookkeeping by double entry should be extensively known. Many a tirm has suffered bankruptey owing to their books not having been kept on this system; and many a young man has been unable to obtain a situation which would have led to wealth, from his ignorance of this most important portion of a commercial education. Treatise upon treatise has been written, professing to teach this science, but they have all more or less clogged it with difficulties and technicalities which do not belong to it. The thing is simple enough in itself, and Mr. Foster has succeeded in setting it so plainly before the reader, that persons of the most moderate capacity may easily acquire it. Mr. Foster's Elucidation' is as incomparably superior to any work before published on the subject as de uble entry is to the old system of bookkeeping."
